

ESG Opportunity in commercial real estate –
the future starts now!

Canada is targeting net-zero emissions by 2050 and it's a known fact that energy consumers want more renewable energy. Property owners and lenders are becoming leaders in their industry by developing strategies to prioritize Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) objectives to set them apart.

As property owners continue to evaluate their investments, some may choose to diversify their portfolios into sustainable projects. As an innovative title insurance provider, FCT plays an important role in protecting investors and lenders to help them meet their ESG objectives with confidence.

Did you know that more than 50% of our claims are not covered by a lawyer's opinion?

While a lawyer's opinion can feel like sufficient protection, the risks that come with real estate deals, on and off-title are real, and costly. Errors in government records, zoning issues and survey problems can lead to significant losses from compliance orders and even loss of access to the property.

Title insurance has become a key risk management tool for owners, lenders and their professional advisors. FCT's commercial policies insure a wide range of property types and risks for which legal opinions are often not otherwise able to cover.

If a covered issue under the owner or lender policy arises, FCT takes on the responsibility of covering the losses resolving the situation; whether that means negotiating with municipalities to grant easement access, covering the cost for moving or taking down offending improvements or structures, or reaching a settlement with the other parties.

Lenders and developers involved in some of Canada's most significant infrastructure projects rely on FCT for creative advice and solutions to manage risk. They seek our expertise in title insuring different types of projects that range from wind farms and co-generations plants to hydro-electric projects.

Our underwriters have the experience needed to structure coverage for the unique needs of infrastructure projects, such as:

- Licenses of occupation, leases, rights-of-way, easements, permits, and other interests in Crown land for which there are no registered titles;
- Similar interests where the Crown has prohibited registration;
- Permits under the Indian Act on reserve and fee simple lands,
