About FCT

Here are a few things people love about Platinum, we're confident you'll love them too:

Cost savings when you choose to work with our network of mortgage brokers and lenders. You'll automatically have access to savings of up to 40% on your mortgage closing.

In-home signing means you're able to complete your mortgage journey—all from the comfort of your home.*

Fixed pricing means you won't have any surprises when you close—nobody likes surprises when it comes to money, right?

*In-home signing is not available in Quebec and some areas of British Columbia—the signing would take place at the office of a lawyer or notary.

About FCT

What's Next?

You've taken the first step by meeting with your broker and selecting a mortgage that makes sense for you. There's a few steps that need to happen before we get involved, we're sure your broker has already explained all of that.

Your lender will send us the details to get your mortgage in place, from there we'll have it complete in just six easy steps:

We'll review the information your lender sent over, we want to make sure we have everything we need before we get started. We'll complete all required title work and documentation. We're verifying that the information on your home's title matches the paperwork your broker and lender submitted.

You'll receive a welcome call from us within 48 hours after your lender sends us the deal, we'll explain the process, our role, and ask you a few questions to get the deal moving along.

Within an hour of that call, you'll receive a full list of what's required for your signing appointment by email. To avoid processing delays, please ensure you have everything on the list for your appointment.

6

The document package is sent back to us and upon lender approval, your deal is all set!

You'll meet with your signing agent to review and sign the documents. Make sure you verify that all information entered is correct and take note of the closing date.

The signing agent* will set up an appointment with you. The quicker we can get this appointment booked, the faster we'll be able to complete your mortgage.

^{*}In-home signing is not available in Quebec and some areas of British Columbia—the signing would take place at the office of a lawyer or notary.

FAQ

About FCT

How you can avoid delays

Make sure you answer our welcome and signing appointment calls, the faster we get this done, the quicker your mortgage is completed—makes sense, right?

Ensure you have all required documents for signing—missing documents can create delays, and nobody likes delays.

Triple check your payout statements (the document that confirms the amount owing on various loans) and make sure the amount presented matches the amount you actually owe.

Pro tip

We'll need account numbers for any loan(s) we're paying out. You can give those to your broker to pass along to us.

FAQ

About FCT

Here are some of our frequently asked questions.

What's required at the signing?

At the signing appointment, we require two pieces of identification from everyone identified on your mortgage paperwork. You'll receive a complete list of what's required at your mortgage signing by email after our welcome call.

What happens after I sign the documents—is my mortgage complete?

Not yet. We'll work with your lender to complete the transaction and the deal will fund on the scheduled closing date.

Is the signing agent able to answer questions about my mortgage?

If you have specific questions about your mortgage, please speak with your mortgage broker in advance of the meeting. Our signing agent is there to witness the signing of the documents and record details of your identification.

I'm paying off some other debts with my refinance, how does that work?

We'll pay off as many debts as we can by electronic funds transfer. If for some reason, we can't do this, you'll receive a list of debts that still need to be paid along with cheques made payable to the creditor and reflecting the amount that is owed.

^{} At the signing appointment, two pieces of identification will be required from all mortgagors, guarantors, and signatories to process the mortgage. Should any other documents be required, FCT will advise you in advance of your appointment.
